

Messy Church

My first visit : here are a few impressions:

Fun activities , older talented “creative “ people playing a bit, teaching a bit”messaging around” looking happy doing whatever. And with little ones getting involved.

Another corner on the floor with slightly older kids concentrating hard, using eye and hand coordination _brilliant not an electronic toy in sight (not that I am old fashioned that way)

There was a bit of running around but not noticeable – toys on the floor but not enough to confuse .

I found it a calm place to be.

At the appropriate time the kids went to church for a short time and the busy bees that were in the kitchen came out and laid a spread of food amazingly fast. The creative stuff was put to rest and the table cloths chairs everything sorted so well organised.

Everyone returned from the church there was bunches of flowers to praise and thank the amazing team who made it all possible with Gods help.

So it was a good way to spend precious time yes indeed I was happy to help in a small way but honestly everyone just joins in as they can and the messy church is no longer messy in no time at all

So try it! I was welcomed as always from a church that does try to look outward to our community. True Christianity!
